

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

THUNDERBIRDS – GENERAL

Q1. What is the mission of the Thunderbirds?

A1. The mission of the Thunderbirds is to support U.S. Air Force recruiting and retention programs and to reinforce public confidence in the U.S. Air Force and demonstrate to the public the professional competence of Air Force professionals. The Thunderbirds also represent the United States and its armed forces to foreign nations and project international goodwill.

Q2. How many people attend this type of event?

A2. More than 26 million people attend more than 400 air shows annually. During the past decade, air shows drew nearly twice the attendance figures of NFL football games.

Q3. Are Thunderbirds the best in the Air Force?

A3. All Thunderbirds are representative of the excellence and professionalism found throughout the Air Force. Thunderbirds consider themselves lucky to represent the best - those serving around the world.

Q4. What kind of aircraft do the Thunderbirds fly?

A4. The Thunderbirds fly the Lockheed Martin F-16 Fighting Falcon. The F-16 Fighting Falcon is a compact, multirole fighter aircraft. It is highly maneuverable and has proven itself in air-to-air combat and air-to-surface attack. It provides a relatively low-cost, high-performance weapon system for the United States and allied nations.

Q5. How Many Thunderbirds are there?

A5. Members of the Thunderbirds are volunteers drawn Air Force-wide from their respective career fields. There are 12 officers; eight pilots -- six who fly the demonstrations and four support officers. More than 120 enlisted people are on the support team. They come together, combining their experience and skills to form a self-sufficient flying organization capable of planning, accomplishing and supporting the Thunderbird mission.

Q6. Why don't the Blue Angels and the Thunderbirds fly together?

A6. Current Department of Defense policy is to maximize use of military aviation demonstration teams for recruiting and to demonstrate U.S. military aviation abilities to the public. This is best accomplished by having the Air Force and Navy flight demonstration teams perform separately in as many locations as possible throughout the year. However, the Thunderbirds do perform at air shows with the U.S. Army parachute demonstration team, the Golden Knights, as do the Blue Angels.
